Dr. BRODUM,
OCULIST and HERBALIST,
(From MECKLENGURGH STRELITZ, in GERMANY)
No. 19, QUEEN STREET, BLOOMSBURY SQUARE,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints the nobility, gentry, and the public in general, that he is returned to this metropolis, having entirely recruited his health; and though the Doctor is ſenſible that it is unuſual for the Faculty in England to circulate accounts of cures through the medium of pamphlets, bills, &c. yet he feels himſelf perfectly juſtified in rendering the public his ſervices, though contrary to the eſtabliſhed cuſtom. For why ſhould the afflicted ſuffer on account of a form laid down by a particular deſcription of men? Eſpecially, having been urged thereto by ſome of his patients, who were given over as incurable by the Faculty, alledging that, "To withold a remedy from the afflicted, is, in fact, little leſs than murder." To eſtabliſh the Doctor's ſcientific ſkill and goodneſs of heart, the following recreated perſons, whom the Doctor has had the bleſſing to cure, have ſolicited to be publiſhed, that the world may be acquainted where to fly for relief: his admirable knowledge (through long experience) of different diſorders, by the means of the URINE, though ſent to him from different counties, has eſtabliſhed the Doctor's fame.

TO THE READER.

Dr. BRODUM treats, with his uſual ſucceſs, all diſorders of the head and eyes; reſtores ſight to thoſe who have cataracts, though many years ſtanding, in a few minutes, by a new method of operation; cures inflammations, weakneſs, and dimneſs; all ſorts of deafneſs, hard hearing and ſingings, proceeding from inflammations, water, or wind, without ſyringing or other futile applications;—alſo, head-aches, ſwimming in the head, and vapours; fits, covulſions, epilepſy, and falling ſickneſs; heart-burn, and palpitation of the heart; aſthma, phthyſic, coughs, conſumption, dropſy, cholic, and all hypochondriac and hyſteric diſorders; the yellow and black jaundice; all nephritic pains, ſtone, gravel, ſtranguary, iſchury, or ſuppreſſion of urine; the incontinentia urina, or thoſe who cannot keep their water; all agues, rheumatic and wandering pains, and contracted and weakened nerves.—All external diſorders, ſuch as cancers, ulcers, tumours, &c. cured without cutting. He likewiſe cures the dry leproſy, ſcorbutic humours, ſcurvy, obſtructions, indigeſtions, flatulencies, exceſſive vomitings, loſs of appetite, and all ſorts of diſorders of the ſtomach;—alſo deafneſs of ever ſo long ſtanding, and all diſorders of the eyes, though nearly blind, reſtoring the patient to perfect ſight;—likewiſe burſtenneſs and ruptures, if applied to in time, as he is provided with all kinds of bandages and truſſes for both ſexes, on a new conſtruction, and ſo eaſy as not to be in the leaſt incommodious to the wearer.

Perſons afflicted with a certain diſorder, recent, or of long ſtanding, attended with the worſt of ſymptoms, may depend on a ſpeedy and ſafe cure, without mercury, or the leaſt hindrance from buſineſs, as he has, on purpoſe, made it a particular part of his ſtudy in Berlin, under the famous Doctor STORCH, Surgeon Major to the Invalids, in curing the dreadful diſorder in its true manner.

 All Perſons afflicted with external diſorders, the Doctor attends perſonally; but internal afflictions may be relieved by having the urine ſent to him.
